

TEXAS POWERSPORTS

In April 2003, Texas PowerSports, a full-line Kawasaki dealership owned and operated by Beth and Glenn Smith opened its doors to the Texas Hill Country. Located at 13220 Highway 290 West in Austin, just 7 miles west of the "Y" in Oak Hill, the couple took great strides to ensure quality in every aspect of their business; from the beautiful newly constructed facility that carries the Texas Hill Country motif throughout the store to the experienced and enthusiastic staff and of course, the leading edge Kawasaki products.

The couple chose the Austin area because it is such an exciting place to live and powersports products are such an integral part of everyday and recreational life. "Location was everything to us in starting this exciting new adventure in our life", say the Smiths. "We knew we wanted to move to the Hill Country to allow our family a better quality of life", says Beth, and "Glenn was anxious to pursue his lifelong desire to return to the powersports industry in which he has over 20 years experience." They offer what they would expect themselves from a business: integrity, personal service, and quality products.

This approach has proven successful as Texas PowerSports has already become one of the top Kawasaki dealers in the nation. As hands on owners, they welcome the opportunity to interact with their customers from the personal greeting at the store entrance to unloading a Mule™ for service. Whether it is your first time into their store for browsing, purchasing parts and accessories or routine maintenance, Beth and Glenn and their experienced staff are always available to answer any questions you may have.
